WEATHER PROBABILITIES - For this section, fair and colder tonight and Wednesday; fresh to brisk northwesterly winds.

and when he opened the door he found there the wife of one of our citizens who said that some one was attempting to get through the window of her house. She was very much agitated and alarmed. Officer Atkinson immediately blew five whistles in front of the station five whistles in front of the station house. Receiving no reply, he proceeded to the corner of Kinz and Fairfax streets and blew nine times without eliciting a reply, the last being a distress call. He then went back in front of the station house and blew five times again, receiving no reply; but a citizen on his way home just at this time came up and as there were no prisoners in the station house. Mr Atkinson left him in charge and proceeded with the lady to her home, where he made a thorough search of the yard, cellar and house without discovering anything. The ileatenant had gone on his rounds about quarter to one o'clock but did not hear Officer Atkinson's whistles, not hear Officer Atkinson's whistles, but he thought that being about the railroad moving trains and incidental noises interferred with hearing. The night was a calm one and the transmis-sion of sounds made then ordinarily fa-

DEATHS AND FUNERALS -Mr. Gao. nome, corner of Pitt and Wilkes streets, last night. The decessed was overelaxly years of age. For a long time the decessed was an employee of the Smoot tannery and later of the Curtin & Butts foundry. For many years he suffered from a terrible affliction in the shape of a malignant tumor, which developed on the side of his face, and though he had undergone several op. Walker, an old and well-known resident of the First ward, died at his though he had undergone several op-erations for its extirpation it invariably returned, causing much pain and inconvenience. Recently he began to suffer from pulmonary trouble which finally caused his death. Mr. Walker was a son of the late George W. Walker, who was many years ago one of the conetables of this city.

The funeral of Mr. Wm. E. Wilkins, who died on Saturday night, took who died on Saturday night, took place this evening from his late home, on Wikes street, and was largely attended, among those in attendance bring Alexandria Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., of which the deceased was a member. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Brooke.

RIVER NOTES .- The ice in the river is rapidly disappearing and now offers but little resistance to either steamboate or sailing vessels.

Steam has again been raised on the Mt. Vernon steamer Charles Macalester and she will be ready for service again wery shortly.

The overhauling of the steamer River Queen is begin pushed in order to have her ready for service on the Mt. Vernon route during the inaugration week.

Cumberland & Son are building the hull for a steam freighter for Mr. F. A. Owens of Washington in the foot of 9th street nortwest of that city. The seamer will be eightly-five feet long, twenty-; we feet wide and will have a twenty-iwo feet wide and will have a depth of hold of five feet. She will be supplied with a tugloat eagine and boiler. She will ply between Washin rtor, Alexandria and points on Occoquae bay and Aquia creek, and will be ready for service in the spring.

her route on Saturday had some neces sary work done to her wheels, which were quite badly damaged in running pairs were also made to the metal on her hull, which was started by the ice.

LENTEN SERVICES .- With tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, the season of Lent begins, and services will be held during the season as follows: Christ Church-Ash Wednesday, 11

Christ Church—Ash Wednesday, 11 s. m.; Tuesdays and Fridays, 5 p. m.; Thursdays (special services) 8 p. m. 8t. Paul's—Ash Wednesday, 11 s. m., 7:30 p. m.; Friday, 4:45 p. m. Through-out the remainder of Lent as follows:

at 6:30; Ash Wednesday, second mass and distribution of blessed ashes, 8:30. Rosary sermon and benediction every Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Sermo next Tuesday night by Rev. E. J. Walsh, of Charlottesville. Way of the holy cross and benediction every Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Lutheran Church-Services every Thursday night at 7:30 p. m.

ASH WEDNESDAY .- To-morrow will be Ash Wednesday, a day of devotion in Catholic, Protestant Episcopal and Luthersn churches, and the beginning of the lenten season The services in the Catholic Church on this day are particu-larly impressive. After an introit and four collects, in which pardon and mercy are implored for the penitent, the members approach and kneel at the altar rails, and the priest puts ashes on the forehead of each, saying: "R-mem-ter, man, that thou art dust, and shalt return to dust." The ashes are obtained by turning the palms of the previous year. The lenten pastorals of bishops, regulating the observance of the season, usually prescribes that the fast on Ash Wednesday shall be more rigorously sday shall be more rigorously kept than on any other day of Lent, ex-cept the four last days of Holy Week.

PRETTY GOODS .- Messes, C. P. Waller and J. S. McMicking of the E. J.
Miller Company, have returned from New York, where they went to purchase goods for that company. They made their purchase just before the recent advance in china and glassware and secured a large number of pretty and useful articles.
